1.0 Introduction

English Language for Advanced Secondary Education is a compulsory subject for students who choose to join the Social Science or Religious Studies streams taking English language among the subjects in their combinations. The significance of learning English is to enable student to comprehend oral and written information with confidence and autonomy. Furthermore, the subject aims at enabling student to evaluate, appreciate, analyse and create various literary works. Generally, it promotes communication, reading, writing and research skills. It is expected that, learners will develop advanced skills for writing clearly, accurately, creatively and effectively for different purposes and audiences. In this regard, learning English at this level will enable student to provide advanced English language services including editing, proofreading, creating literary work, conducting authentic interpretations and translation.

This syllabus is designed to guide the teaching and learning of English language at Advanced Secondary Education, Form V-VI in the United Republic of Tanzania. The syllabus interprets the competences indicated in the 2023 Advanced Secondary Education Curriculum. It comprises valuable information that will enable teachers to effectively plan their teaching.

6.0 Roles of Teachers, Students and Parents in Teaching and Learning

A good relationship between a teacher, student and parent or guardian is fundamental in ensuring successful learning. This section outlines roles of each participant in facilitating effective teaching and learning process of History.

6.1 The teacher

The teacher is expected to:

- (a) Help the student to learn and acquire the intended competencies in English Language;
- (b) Use teaching and learning approaches that will allow student with different needs and abilities to:
  - (i) develop the competencies needed in the 21st century; and
  - (ii) actively participate in the teaching and learning process.
- (c) Use student centred instructional strategies that make the student a centre of learning which allow them to think, reflect and search for information from various sources;
- (d) Create a friendly teaching and learning environment;
- (e) Prepare and improvise teaching and learning resources;
- (f) Conduct formative assessment regularly by using tools and methods which assess theory and practice;
- (g) Treat all students equally irrespective of their differences;
- (h) Protect the student while at school;

- (i) Keep track of the student's daily progress;
- (j) Identify individual student's needs and provide the right intervention;
- (k) Involve parents/guardians and the society at large in the student's learning process; and
- (l) Integrate cross-cutting issues and ICT in the teaching and learning process.

6.2 The student

The student is expected to:

- (b) Where possible, provide the child with the needed academic support;
- (c) Provide the child with a safe and friendly home environment which is conducive for learning;
- (d) Keep track of the child's progress in behaviour;
- (e) Provide the child with any necessary materials required in the learning process; and
- (f) Instil in the child a sense of commitment and positive value towards education and work.

7.0 Teaching and Learning Methods

The teaching and learning methods are instrumental in developing student's competences. This syllabus suggests teaching and learning methods for each activity which includes but not limited to discussions, presentations, field visits, practical work, research, scientific experiments, and project works. However, a teacher is advised to plan and use other appropriate methods based on the environment or context. All the teaching and learning methods should be integrated with the everyday lives of students.

8.0 Teaching and Learning Resources

The process of teaching and learning requires different resources. In that regard, both the teacher and students should work together to collect or improvise alternative resources available in the school and home environment when needed. The teacher and student are expected to constantly seek for information from various sources to effectively facilitate teaching and learning process. The list of the approved resources for reference shall be provided by the Tanzania Institute of Education.

9.0 Assessment

Assessment is important in teaching and learning of English Language subject. It is divided into formative and summative assessments. Formative assessment informs both the teacher and students on the progress of teaching and learning, and in making decisions on improving the teaching and learning process. Teachers are, therefore, expected to apply a wide range of formative assessment methods which include but not limited to discussions, presentations, oral questions, brainstorming, experiments, observations, practical and projects.

Summative assessment, on the other hand, will focus on determining student's achievement of learning. Teachers are expected to use a variety of summative assessments including mid-term tests, terminal, mock examinations and projects. The scores obtained from these assessments will be used as Continuous Assessment (CA). Therefore, the continuous assessments shall contribute 30% and the National Form VI Examination shall be 70% of the student's final achievement, as indicated in Table 2.

Table 2: Contribution of Continuous Assessment and National Examination in the final score
